

Workshop Assignment

Alex Rhodes

For this workshop activity I attended two of the previous year's capstone final presentations. The two presentations that I attended were the VR goalie and one about security on hardware. By attending these presentations, it gave me a good overview of what this project entails. I gained a lot of new information about all the subsystems of these select projects and they did a lot of interesting things. Even though my project is not completely related to these it gave me a lot of ideas on how we could handle our workflow and design in general. Overall, this was a good experience to have done and I feel more prepared for the work to come.

I did not take a picture of me during the presentations as I forgot. I believe you might have saw me there but I did sit next to Professor Char and then had a meeting with Joe during part of the one presentation.
